

GET CRAFTY: HOMEMADE PINECONE BIRDFEEDER

Pinecone feeders are a classic DIY bird feeder option because they are easy to do and offer a lot of room to adapt them to your preferences. Whether you're five or fifty, these pinecone bird feeders are sure to bring a smile to your face!

Materials Needed

- Pinecones
- Peanut Butter
- Birdseed
- Yarn or Twine
- Cornmeal
- Nuts (optional)
- Berries (optional)
- Unsweetened cereal (optional)

Instructions

1. Start by collecting some of the pinecones scattered around your yard – the bigger the better!
2. Then, tie some yarn, twine, or string to the top of each pinecone.
3. Scoop a dollop of peanut butter and smear it on the pinecone. Make sure to cover the entire surface and push some into the cracks.
4. Roll the peanut butter-covered pinecone in birdseed and cornmeal, coating completely.
5. Feel free to add nuts, berries, and unsweetened cereal to your pinecones depending on what birds you'd like to attract!
6. Hang them around your yard as edible ornaments for the birds.
